HU127 Under Saddle and Hack Classes

3. Horses competing in hunter divisions must do so with the same shoeing status in the over fences classes as in the under saddle classes. If a horse is competing in over fences classes with shoes, the horse must compete in under saddle classes with shoes. A violation will result in elimination from the under saddle class.

Rule Change Intent

In consideration of the welfare of the horse, this rule change proposal discourages a practice that avoids unnecessarily compromising the integrity of the horse's hoof health and condition. Used to achieve an uncertain competitive edge in under saddle classes, this practice often causes bruising, soreness, and breakage of the hoof wall and can result in extended lameness.
